

Data processing information

(Italian Legislative Decree 30 June 2003, no. 196)

The personal data requested is essential to allowing us to get back to our guests and/or to book tables.

The personal data requested may also be used in future (with no time limit) for commercial communications and alerts of various kinds regarding the activities of VIRFRA SRL, via email and/or telephone.

Personal data, gathered through the website and/or when contact details/bookings are requested or by telephone, will be processed directly by VIRFRA SRL and/or by companies it controls and/or those connected to it. The processing will be carried out by the individuals charged with the task as per legal provisions, using electronic and/or manual instruments, and, in any case, in such a way as to guarantee the security and privacy of said data.

If you do not give your consent, it will not be possible for VIRFRA SRL to provide you with the services described above.

Deletion of personal data:

The personal data provided can be deleted at any time. This type of request will lead to the permanent removal from the system of your personal data with the relative suspension of all activities relating to them.

To request the deletion of your personal data, send an email from the address you used for a previous contact request, to: info@ristorantesantavirginia.it, in which you expressly request the removal of your personal data relating to your email address.

Alternatively, you can make said request in writing to:
